This is a service for people with chronic and complicated medical conditions who are regularly going to hospital because of their health, and who would benefit from having some help to co-ordinate their care.

A chronic health condition is a health problem that is ongoing and is affecting your life. It may include diabetes or diabetic foot conditions, heart failure, respiratory disease, or many other health conditions. The service helps you by providing treatment to improve your health, as well as teaching you about your disease, supporting you to remain active in the community, and avoid having to go to hospital.

Specialist doctors, nurses, social workers, physiotherapists, pharmacists, occupational therapists, dieticians and care coordinators work with you to meet your health needs.

We provide services at home and in different community settings.
