MerriHealth Chronic conditions Services

Chronic conditions
Part of your Merri Health network

We help people with an ongoing health problem get treatment and support that makes managing their condition easier.

Complex care: Respiratory and cardiac services

This is a service for people with chronic and complicated medical conditions who are regularly going to hospital because of their health, and who would benefit from having some help to co-ordinate their care.

A chronic health condition is a health problem that is ongoing and is affecting your life. It may include diabetes or diabetic foot conditions, heart failure, respiratory disease, or many other health conditions. The service helps you by providing treatment to improve your health, as well as teaching you about your disease, supporting you to remain active in the community, and avoid having to go to hospital.

Specialist doctors, nurses, social workers, physiotherapists, pharmacists, occupational therapists, dieticians and care coordinators work with you to meet your health needs.

We provide services at home and in different community settings. To access this service you must first be assessed by The Royal Melbourne Hospital.

Community nursing

This service can help you with a health assessment, information, support and referral to another service. Some assessments are completed in the community, if needed.

Keeping active

Healthy Eating and Lifestyle group

The Healthy Eating and Lifestyle group known as HEAL™, is a lifestyle education program. It teaches and supports you to develop healthy eating and physical activity behaviours. The program runs for eight weeks with information about a healthy diet, and general health and exercise tips.

Care coordinators

A care coordinator helps clients that have been identified as having a chronic health condition and need help with managing their health needs. A chronic disease can be things like diabetes, respiratory or cardiac disease and arthritis. A care coordinator will help with lifestyle changes and will support you to manage your health on your own.
