Child safety

We are committed to child safety and have zero tolerance of child abuse. All allegations and safety concerns will be treated very seriously. We have a legal and moral obligation to contact authorities when worried about a child's safety, which we always follow. We aim to prevent child abuse by looking at risks early and removing or reducing these risks.

Our staff are responsible for the care and protection of children within their care at Merri Health and will report suspected child abuse. We provide training and education about child abuse risks and are committed to the cultural safety of all children, including Indigenous children, children from a culturally and/or linguistically diverse background and children with a disability.

If we have concerns about abuse or neglect of clients or carers, we will follow up immediately.

Eligibility

We may refuse to provide a service if you are not eligible for that service. We may have to cancel services in some circumstances. These include situations where distress is caused by you to other clients, staff or volunteers. You can also refuse or decide not to continue with a service, group or treatment at any time. This will not affect any services you may need in the future.

Advocacy

You may choose to have a friend or family member with you when using our service. They can be there to support you, or if you wish, they can speak on your behalf. You can also contact other organisations for help:

This staff member may have contributed to the client's health and wellbeing goals or helped them to access their community. Awards will be granted twice a year and staff recipient will be formally recognised for their work.

You can nominate a worker by completing a nomination form. These can be found at reception or on our website by searching for 'Changing Lives Award'.

Charter of Aged Care Rights

As of the 1 July 2019, there is a new Charter of Aged Care Rights. All aged care clients and/or their authorised person will be provided with a copy, and given a reasonable opportunity to sign it. The reason we ask that you sign the Charter rights is to acknowledge you have received and understand it. If you choose to not sign it, you can still commence or continue to receive care and services.

Fees

Fees are charged for some services. You will be provided with information about fees when you are sent information about the service. For most services, no person will be denied access to a service if they are not able to pay or contribute to services fees. If you have any concerns about fees, speak to your care provider.
